

Sarah: Hi Michael, what's up? Michael: Not much, I'm setting up my vacation plans for next Christmas. I can't settle on a location. Sarah: Oh really? Have you gotten over to Hawaii?
	Michael: You went in the winter? Wow. Wasn't it cold? Sarah: It wasn't too cold. We went scuba diving. Have you ever gone scuba diving?
	Michael: No, I haven't. Although, I have given Hawaii some consideration. Have you gone? Sarah: Yes, I've gone to Hawaii a couple of times.
	Michael: Oh yeah. I've done a lot of diving actually. Sarah: You have?
	Michael: Really? When did you go to Hawaii? Sarah: We went with my husband over the winter holiday.
Michael: Yeah, I'm a certified diver. I've taken a ton of scuba classes. Sarah: I'm thinking about it. Where have you gone?

	Michael: I've done the Molasses reef and Andy's wall in the Bahamas. Sarah: When?
	Michael: When was that?
	Sarah: Yes, I have.
	Michael: I went to both on a cruise in October of 2018. Have you been there?
Sarah: I went to the Bahamas for a wedding five years ago.

We use the present perfect for _____. (general information / specific details)

We use the simple past for _____. (general information / specific details)