

GRAMMAR

Pizza

- | | | |
|------------|--|----------------|
| B4 | The evolution of pizza was quite long and many cultures contributed to it. Let have a glimpse of its history. | WE |
| B5 | of ancient Egypt, Greece and later Rome had recipes similar to modern ones. | WOMAN |
| B6 | The Egyptians had a tradition to celebrate the Pharaoh's birthday with flat loaves very much like our modern pizza. | LOOK |
| B7 | The word 'pizza' appeared in printing at the end of the 10th century for the time. | ONE |
| B8 | A remarkable event took place in June 1889. The Italian queen Margarita was staying in her summer palace in Naples. It was her birthday and the owner of a very popular pizzeria cooked a special kind of pizza for her. He named it 'Margarita'. It was the way to make this pizza famous all over the world. | GOOD |
| B9 | Now pizza with tomatoes. However, when tomatoes appeared in Europe they were grown as an ornamental plant. | COOK |
| B10 | For a long time people believe that tomatoes were edible. | NOT CAN |