CONDITIONALS

❖ Can you match the two halves to form sentences?

I always get hungry in class	if I hadn't done my homework.
I will watch Netflix	if I have some free time.
I wouldn't ask for help	if I don't have breakfast properly.
I wouldn't have passed the assignment	if I didn't need it, right?

In English, there are different types of conditionals:

- Real Conditionals
    - 🖊 TYPE 0 → Facts and scientific truths
      > Present Simple + IF/WHEN + Present Simple

    - 🖊 TYPE 1 → Possible, likely future situations if the conditions happens
      > Present Simple + IF + WILL

- Unreal Conditionals
    - 🖊 TYPE 2 → Unlikely present or future situations
      > Past Simple + IF + WOULD/COULD/MIGHT

    - 🖊 TYPE 3 → Imaginary situations about the past, sometimes expressing regret
      > Past Perfect + IF + WOULD HAVE followed by a PAST PARTICIPLE

Look at the following sentences and decide if they are ZERO, FIRST, SECOND or THIRD conditional.

- If you do your homework, you will understand this topic perfectly well.

- Susan wouldn't have dumped Jeremy if she hadn't found out about his affair with Julia.

- Plants die if they don't receive enough water.

- If I won the lottery, I would give the money away for charity.

LET'S PRACTICE!

❖ Use the verbs in the box in the correct form to complete each conditional sentence.
