- A. Ireland's west coast is one of the most beautiful and dramatic places on earth. The ideal way to see it is from the air. In our new helicopter, you will first see the beautiful lakes, mountains and rivers of Connemara. After you've lunched in the pretty fishing village of Clifden, you'll be back in the air for breathtaking views of the wild Aran Islands. Don't forget to bring a camera with a zoom lens for once-in-a-lifetime shots of the seal colony.
- B. Travelling is popular with people because it gives them freedom from daily routine, new emotions and experiences, adventure. It's a perfect way to learn about the culture and traditions of other people. We can go and explore new places, try new activities, watch nature's wonders or start collecting something. It adds spice to our life, making it brighter and more memorable. That's why we all look forward to a new trip and start planning it well in advance.
- C. Many Americans used to travel to Cuba illegally. The most common way to travel there was to fly to a third country such as Canada, Mexico, or the Bahamas that had regularly scheduled flights to Cuba. You could get a Cuban tourist card at airports in these countries, good for up to 30 days visiting Cuba. Several companies located in Canada and elsewhere operated mainly to help Americans who wanted to travel independently to Cuba to book hotels and make other travel arrangements.
- D. Tonight's documentary "Wildlife" takes a fascinating look at the animals of Siberia. Award-winning filmmakers, Chiara and Luca Colucci, spent six months in the Far East of Russia looking for the rare Siberian tiger. There are only about 300 of these beautiful animals left in the wild. With the help of a baby fox cub they had found earlier on the trip, the Coluccis explored the beautiful River Amur region in their search for the tiger. They got both — an unforgettable journey and an unforgettable film.
- E. One of England's most famous shops is Harrods, in Knightsbridge in London. It has nearly everything but it's expensive! You can also find many other big shops in out-of-town shopping malls, cities, and towns all over the country. For clothes, go to Marks and Spencer, Top Shop, River Island, and Monsoon. Waterstones and Borders have books, and HMV and Virgin have CDs and DVDs. But don't forget small shops. Here you can often find something different and really exciting.
- F. Thousands of people travel every day either on business or for pleasure. They can travel by air, by train, by sea or by car. Of course, travelling by air is the fastest and the most convenient way, but it is the most expensive too. Travelling by train is slower than by plane, but it has its advantages. You can see many interesting landscapes of the country you are travelling through. Travelling by sea is very popular too, both on large ships and small river boats, abroad and within our own country.

WHY STUDY FOREIGN LANGUAGES?

There are a lot of reasons why people learn foreign languages. Think about how many more people and places you could really get to know, newspapers and books you could read, movies and TV programs you could understand, Web sites you could visit with another language!

Personally, I decided to learn foreign languages because they make you more successful. Did you know that studying a second language can improve your skills and grades in math and can improve entrance exam scores? Research has shown that math and verbal exam scores climb higher with each additional year of foreign language study.

My native language is English, and that was the only language I spoke until the age of eleven. I grew up in the north west of England, and acquired a standard accent from my parents, and some aspects of the local accent from my peers at school. My accent tends to change depending on who I'm talking to, and I enjoy mimicking different regional accents, which is one of the reasons why I developed such an interest in languages.

The first foreign language I encountered was Welsh: my mother has tried to learn Welsh a number of times, so there were Welsh language materials around the house and I picked up some words and phrases. At secondary school I learnt French, which was compulsory for the first three years and optional thereafter. I also learnt German, which I started in my second year. At the age of 16 I had to transfer to a different school because I was the only person who wanted to continue studying languages.

With some experience of studying languages I must say that learning a foreign language doesn't have to be boring. You can learn a second language in exciting new ways, using technology and focusing on communication (for example studying on the Internet). Remember, you are never too young and it is never too late to begin. Depending on how long you study, you can gain different levels of fluency. You will probably not sound like a native speaker who has spoken the language at home as a child. Don't worry; you're not expected to. To a greater or lesser degree you will, however, make yourself understood, read magazines or books for pleasure or information, and meet and talk with new groups of people. And another thing. I am sure that nowadays chances of finding a good job may be improved if you choose a more unusual language, like Japanese or Swedish.

Should you continue language study after high school? Yes! Don't waste your investment of time and effort. Use your second language on the job; seek out opportunities to use it in your community; in college, take more courses, study abroad at intersession or for a summer, a semester, or a year. And you might decide to start yet another language. When you study a language, you learn about how to learn a language, so learning the next one is easier.
