READING

'It started as a hobby ...'

The next hit teen novelist!

- A While she was studying, teenager Beth Reeks spent every minute of her free time writing. But she wasn't sending emails or messages to friends; she was trying to write something new and entertaining to read.
- B Beth enjoyed reading realistic love stories, but when she searched local bookshops for her favourite type of novel, it was always a disappointing experience. The only books she could find were fantasy stories about vampires. The answer, she decided, was to write a story herself.
- C Beth soon discovered that a lot of teenagers thought there were too many vampire books in shops and libraries. She uploaded parts of her story to an online writing forum and it became an instant hit! Beth soon had one million readers and she also received the forum's Most Popular Teen Fiction award.
- D However, it wasn't just her fans who liked Beth's writing. While she was enjoying her online success, a book company contacted her and asked her to write three novels for them. Now a film studio wants to make the talented teenager's first novel into a film. Not bad for an activity which started as a hobby!
