

History of Magic and Care of Magical Creatures- Native American Magic

A. Read this text and select the correct answers:

	Native American witches and wizards were called shamans. Native Americans liked their shamans and welcomed them. When Native American children were around eleven years old, they walked far away from the tribe and didn't eat or sleep until they saw a vision of an animal. This was their totemic animal. It protected them for life. Shamans didn't use magic wands, but they were good at nature magic- They talked to animals, they grew plants and they brought the rains. Shamans cured the sick and helped bring babies. They caught bad dreams with dream catchers. Animagi shamans were called skin-walkers; they transformed into different animals. Shamans had special dreams or visions about the future. They also talked to spirits and protected the people from bad spirits.
---	--

1. What were Native American witches and wizards called? _____
2. Did the Native Americans like their shamans? _____
3. Which animal protected Native Americans for life _____
4. Did Shamans use magic wands? _____

B. Drag and drop the types of Native American magic under their pictures:

talked to animals	grew plants	brought the rains	cured the sick	helped bring babies	caught bad dreams	had visions and talked to spirits

C. Answer the questions with complete sentences:

Thunderbird 	Thunderbirds live in the deserts of Arizona, in the U.S.A. They eat snakes, insects and whales. Their head is similar to an eagle's, and they have three pairs of wings, and feathers that shine with cloud-like shapes. Thunderbirds can sense danger, make storms, carry a whale, and change into different colours. They can change into shiny gold, blue, grey, silver, and white. They are part of the phoenix bird family. Thunderbirds' tail feathers can be used for the center of a magic wand but you mustn't try to capture a Thunderbird as they are a protected species. By wizarding law, they must stay in Arizona.
---	--

1. Where do thunderbirds live? _____
2. What do thunderbirds eat? _____
3. How many wings do thunderbirds have? _____
4. What can thunderbirds do? _____

C. What must you do? Click on the correct one

1. To see your totemic animal you must / mustn't walk away from the tribe.
2. To see your totemic animal you must / mustn't fall asleep.
3. To see your totemic animal you must / mustn't stay awake for days.
4. To see your totemic animal you must / mustn't eat anything.
5. You must / mustn't catch a Thunderbird; They are a protected species.
6. By wizarding law, thunderbirds must / mustn't stay in Arizona.

Totem Pole

Dream Catcher