THE MAYFLOWER

The first English people travelled to America in 1620 on a ship called the Mayflower. There were 102 men, women and children on the ship. They are usually called 'the Pilgrims'. They left England because the king didn't like their religion.

The Mayflower was a very small boat for the journey of 4,500 kilometres. The ceiling was very low so some passengers couldn't stand up and there wasn't a toilet.

When they left the English port of Plymouth on 6th September 1620, it was good weather. But there were storms on the Atlantic Ocean and the waves were huge. A lot of the passengers and workers were seasick. One sailor and one passenger died.

After 66 days, the Mayflower arrived at Cape Cod, Massachusetts. It was winter and there was a lot of snow so the Pilgrims stayed on the ship until spring. There wasn't much food and it was very cold. A lot of them died. By spring only 53 passengers were still alive.

A Native American called Squanto from the Wampanoag tribe helped the Pilgrims. He taught them to catch fish and grow vegetables. He also showed them useful plants which were medicines.

In the summer of 1621, the Pilgrims harvested the food on their farms. In the autumn, the Pilgrims gave thanks for the harvest and they invited Squanto and his tribe to a meal. The Wampanoags brought a lot of food – turkey, fish, beans and berries. Today people in the USA have a holiday and a special meal every November on Thanksgiving Day. And they remember the Pilgrims who gave thanks for the harvest in 1621.
