Star is trying to finish her autobiography. She needs your help. CLICK on the correct answer & prepare to tell her WHY.

Star got – has got a new part-time job: food & store critic for a newspaper in her part of town. It consists in – consists of various things: evaluating the food, ambiances, drinks and prices of various restaurants, pubs and street food stands, as well as commenting on their utensils and containers. What's more, the comments have to be in the shape of a semi-formal letter. She had to lend / loan – borrow a computer for her first one. Thankfully, her friend said, "I'm not very sensitive – sensible to criticism about my desktop image, I don't have many principals – principles about nude – naked pictures of me in the internet, you know, so you take – get mine. I'm series – serious. Whose – Who's going to stop us?!" Because of – Therefore her invitation, Star laid – lay the computer on her desk, and on the newspaper's letterhead stationery – stationary began printing the e-mail she already has – had written while she waited on – for her internet to connect.

Dear Mr. Gumption of "You've got a lot of Gumption BBQ and Jello Restaurant and Shop,"

My review of your delicious BBQ and green Jello dishes, your 7-hops house brew, your elegant elk horn handled brass cutlery, and your cut glass serving ware (all usually for – on sale at – in your store at a 5% discount when presenting a lunch or dinner receipt worth at least $35.00 from your fine place and dated to the same day) will be published in our next edition, conscientiously. I'm so sorry that the review is a week late, and that the review has had to be – be moved to the third page. If I had had – had the choice, I wouldn't have – couldn't have waited, and – but the boss prevailed. To pique – peek – peak your interest in remaining a loyal advertiser, we will give – will have given you a 10% discount on your next ad. If you could – should see me next week, we can – could talk about it when I neither – either take you for lunch or an aperitif. You could – would suggest your favorite place. I'm hoping that will – must sweeten our future relations.

Best regards, Star
