1- Read the blog. Which two cities did Tim visit?

_____ and _____

We flew into JFK airport and took a bus to our hotel in Manhattan. New York is an amazing city. It's more exciting than Toronto, my hometown. The first day, we sailed on a ferry to Liberty Island. We climbed up the Statue of Liberty. There are 25 windows in the crown and the views were awesome. In the evening, we took a taxi to Times Square. It was crowded and noisy, but we loved it. In fact, it was better than in the movies! We had pizza, and then we took the subway back to the hotel because it was faster than by taxi.

This morning, we got up really early and took a train to Boston. It's slower than by plane, but you see some nice views. Boston is a historic city, and our hotel was in a quiet street. We visited the famous sites on foot, and saw the Duckling sculptures in Boston Public Garden. We ate the Boston specialty "clam chowder" for lunch.

Delicious! Then we took a Duck Tour around the city. This "car-boat" goes on the road and in the river! It's an unusual way to see a city.

Don't miss it when you go!
