BEARS

Bears are large animals. They walk on all four legs but can rise up on their back legs. Bears are carnivores, or meat eaters, but most of them eat berries, roots and nuts too. In the north, bears sleep in the winter. They just take a long, long nap. Sometimes they wake up and go out in the winter. Polar bears are the largest bears. A polar bear might look white, but that's because we only see the white fur, underneath the fur the polar bear actually has black skin.
