

SHOPPING CONVERSATIONS

Read the following conversations with your oral partner  and fill in the blanks together. Click on the « show right answers » button and correct your mistakes if any. Switch roles and read the dialogues again :

Conversation 1

Drag and drop the following words:

loyalty card buying afford label ask try

Situation: Lucy and Tui meet Bob at the university shop.

Lucy: Good morning, Bob. Nice to see you, how are you today?

Bob: Morning, Lucy. I'm great thanks. What are you _____?

Lucy: I'm here with Tui, she wants to buy something for the new semester.

Bob: What do you want to buy, Tui?

Tui: I want to buy a maroon university jumper, but they all look too large and expensive.

Bob: You should _____ the sales assistant to help you.

Tui: Excuse me, please. Do you have a small jumper which is not too expensive?

Sales Assistant: Please look at our sale items in the second aisle. The jumpers are cheaper but I don't know what we have in stock. You can _____ clothes on in the fitting cubicle.

Tui: Thank you. Look at this one, Lucy. I really like it and it's cheap as well. The _____ shows it's only £10.50.

Lucy: That is the right size, it fits you and is not baggy. Put it back on the hanger and let's go and pay for it.

Bob: Oh, Tui, I almost forgot, you can use my _____ to receive an additional 10% discount.

Tui: That is very kind of you, Bob. I have saved a lot of money today. I can now _____ to buy some new books.

Lucy: The book shop has a clearance sale next door. Would you like to go and have a look with us, Bob?

Bob: Yes, I also need some books. Come on, let's go.

Visit their website to do more exercises online:

<https://www.excellentes4u.com/esl-shopping-conversation.html>

SHOPPING CONVERSATIONS

Conversation 2

Drag and drop the following words:

delivered online refund order cheaper purchase

Situation: Roommates Jane and Patrick discuss their weekly shopping trip.

Jane: We don't have much food left in the cupboards, Patrick. Are you ready to do our food shopping?

Patrick: Yes, I'll just put on my shoes and we will go.

Jane: It's too far from the dormitory. Let's buy our food _____.

Patrick: I've never bought food online before. In America we don't usually _____ things online.

Jane: In the UK people often purchase all kinds of things online, especially food. It is very convenient.

Patrick: How long will it take to be _____?

Jane: The delivery service is free if we spend over £35 and we will get it tomorrow afternoon if we _____ today.

Patrick: That is very good. Are products more expensive online?

Jane: No. The prices are the same and sometimes it can be _____. You can often see special offers like buy one get one free.

Patrick: What if the item we choose is not in stock?

Jane: The staff will choose an alternative of a similar price, or give us a _____.

Patrick: It all sounds very reasonable and convenient. Let's order online.

Jane: I will go to get my computer and log in to the shop's website.

Patrick: I will make a shopping list of what we need and you can order it.

Jane: Ok. I will get my purse, too. I will use my credit card to pay.

Patrick: Thanks. I will give you my share in cash from my wallet.

Jane: Ok, that is fine.

Visit their website to do more exercises online:

<https://www.excellentesl4u.com/esl-shopping-conversation.html>