

Taking Reservations by Telephone

Fred, the head-waiter, answered the telephone at Chez Max. He greeted the caller...

...and identified the restaurant and himself.

He offered to assist the caller.

The caller wished to make a dinner reservation. Fred got out the reservation notepad.

He asked her for the date of the reservation...

...and wrote down the details as she spoke.

He found out the time of the reservation.

Fred asked the caller for her name. She spelt it out for him.

Fred asked Ms Reid for the number of people in her party.

The caller had a special request - a window table.

Fred checked the floor chart.

He apologized because the non-smoking section was booked out that night.

He offered her an alternative, and asked for her agreement.

Ms Reid accepted the offer.

Fred read back to Ms Reid all the details he had written on the reservation notepad.

He asked Ms Reid for a contact number and wrote it down on the notepad.

Before ending the conversation, Fred thanked the caller...

...and said goodbye.

Finally Fred copied all the information on the notepad into the restaurant reservation record.
