Visiting Hong Kong?

Here's what you need to know

In this month's "Teen Travels" we talk to Amy Lee about advice for teenage visitors to Hong Kong.

So, Amy, why is Hong Kong a cool place for teens to visit?

It's the best city, in my opinion. I now live in London, but I spent the first twelve years of my life in Hong Kong. I go back to Hong Kong every holiday to visit family. In fact, I'm going to be there next week. For me, it's a really exciting city to be in and there is so much for young people to do. You'll never get bored in Hong Kong!

I like walking around Hong Kong and also catching the tram, but my favourite way to see the city is from the water. You can catch the Star Ferry from Victoria Harbour. You'll get amazing views of Hong Kong and it's not an expensive way to travel. I also love going up to Victoria Peak, the highest mountain on Hong Kong Island. You can take a tram up the mountain. There are places to eat, but no hotels. It's especially good at nighttime, when you can see all the lights of Hong Kong below you.

A favourite place for Hong Kong teens to walk along is Nathan Road. It's two miles long and is full of shops, but also full of people – sometimes too many! The bubble tea shops are really popular places for teens to hang out. You'll have no problem spending your holiday money there!

I hope you have a great time in Hong Kong!

1 Amy knows Hong Kong well because

A she lives there with her family.
B she went there on holiday a lot when she was young
C she lived there until she was a teenager.

2 Why does Amy think Hong Kong is a great place for teenagers?

A because it's easy to get bored in other cities
B because there are many things to interest teenagers
C because there are so many young people there

3 Amy thinks the best way to see the city is

A by boat. B on foot. C by tram.

4 Amy says Victoria Peak

A is a beautiful place to stay for a night.
B has great views in the evening.
C has no restaurants or cafes.

5 Amy sometimes feels that Nathan Road is

A too expensive B too long C too busy
