STORY AT THE AIRPORT

A few months ago, my family and I bought a plane ticket to Spain, we wanted to go on holidays for two weeks, so were at the departure lounge area that morning at the airport. My dad was irritated and grumpy because we had to wait for a few hours. And to make things worse, my two little siblings started to argue for a toy. My mom was lossing her temper and asked them to calm down. But, the two little rascals kept on fighting. Once we tried to embark on the plane, a well built guy with wavy long hair and a full grey beard with some freckles on his forehead, aproached to my dad and in an angry tone asked for his carry-on bag. My dad was baffled, because he didn't understand what was going on. The guy who seemed to be in his thirties, was so rude that accused my dad of stealing his carry-on bag. It turned out that, accidentally, my dad had taken other bag while waiting at the departure lounge.
