We all like to know what's in the news—world news, local news, sports news—and today there are many different ways of finding out about recent events. How do people choose, and what do they like about the different methods?

Newspapers—still the favorite. Millions of people read newspapers because they're cheap, detailed, and you can read them at home, at work, or on the train.

Radio—people listen to the radio because it's easy. You can listen in the car, when you're working, or in bed, but some people think the radio is old-fashioned.

TV—almost everyone watches TV, and a lot of people get the news from it. It's interesting and exciting because it's visual. There are a lot of different kinds of news shows to suit all types of people.

The Internet—many people now use the Internet. It's detailed and very fast; news stories appear when they happen.

Apps—this way of getting news is popular because it's fast. The news arrives on your cell phone, so you get it anywhere, anytime.
