A Visit to the Nutritionist

Last week, my mother decided to make a family visit to the nutritionist, in order to improve our eating habits. Melissa, the nutritionist, received us with a big smile. She says that in order to eat healthy we need to eat food from the different food groups in the correct portions.

She mentioned that we must eat three main meals everyday: breakfast, lunch and dinner and also two light snacks. Furthermore, she suggested to avoid sweets and sugar based drinks.

Karla recommended to take our meals at the same time every day, and not to take dinner after seven p.m. in order to have a good digestion and avoid gastrointestinal diseases.

Finally, she said that drinking water and doing physical exercise is important to keep healthy and in a good weight.
