So/Neither

To indicate that something that someone said is true for you too, you can simply say, "Me too." To say that a negative statement applies to you too, you can say "Me neither." In these types of situations we also sometimes use so or neither with auxiliary verbs and pronouns. The table below describes how to do this.

To be - With the verb to be you use so or neither, then the verb to be (am), then the subject (I). See the examples below.
SENTENCE	RESPONSE
I'm tired.	So am I.
I'm not tired.	Neither am I.
Present - With verbs in the present tense you use so or neither, then do and then the subject (I). See the examples below.
SENTENCE	RESPONSE
I swim.	So do I.
I don't swim.	Neither do I.
Present Perfect - With verbs in the present perfect you use so or neither, then have and then the subject (I). See the examples below.
SENTENCE	RESPONSE
I've finished.	So have I.
I haven't finished.	Neither have I.
Future - With verbs in the future you use so or neither, then will and then the subject (I). See the examples below.
SENTENCE	RESPONSE
I will study.	So will I.
I won't study.	Neither will I.
Past - With verbs in the past tense you use so or neither, then did and then the subject (I). See the examples below.
SENTENCE	RESPONSE
I finished.	So did I.
I didn't finish.	Neither did I.

Complete the following sentences using a correct phrase with SO or NEITHER.

1.I'm not a very hard-working person and ..... my brother.

2.We enjoy playing videogames and ..... my teacher.

3. Paul didn't pay any attention to today's lesson and ..... we.

4. I have never gone been in London and ..... my wife.

5.Tomorrow my neighbours are going to the new department store in the suburbs and ..... I.

6.When we arrived, Charlotte had just finished her dinner and ..... her parents.

7.By this time next year , I'll have finished school and ..... you.

8. I am very tired and ..... my sister.

9.The pizza was burnt and ..... the garlic bread.

10.I have never accepted a bribe from anyone and ..... my partner.

LIVEWORKSHEETS