Three Little Piglets

CHANGE INTO THE PAST SIMPLE

Once upon a time there are three brothers. They are piglets and they live near a forest. They are all very good friends. Their names are Piggy, Podgy and Lumpy. They decide to build each other a nice house, so they can visit each other. Piggy, who is a very practical pig with a lot of sense of time and how much it costs, decides to build himself a straw house. It is very beautiful. He plants the most beautiful flowers around it and in the garden at the back he grows his vegetables and some herbs. He is very proud of it. Podgy likes wood and decides to build a wooden house. He paints his house with a lot of colours so it looks bright and happy. Lumpy, who is the most sensible of all of them, makes a brick house because he knows that he is too heavy and a straw or a wooden house can't keep his big body safe. In the forest, a wolf lives too. His name is Herman. He watches the three pigs building their houses and imagines having a nice pork chop for dinner. After a while, the pigs finish their houses. All three houses look very nice. Then the wolf attacks. First he wants to eat Piggy, but Piggy hides into his straw house. Unfortunately, the wolf blows it away, and Piggy runs to his brother Podgy and they both hide into the wooden house. The wolf runs after them. But when he comes to the house, he can't get inside to get his pork chop. So again, he blows and blows and blows and finally blows down the pretty little wooden house. Piggy and Podgy run for their lives to their brother's house. They lock themselves in and close all the windows and block the door with a heap of furniture. The wolf comes running but he can't break in. He blows and blows, but the house doesn't move. So he decides to enter the house through the chimney. He climbs on the roof and into the chimney he goes. But we know the three brothers are very smart. So they put a big saucepan on the fireplace and light a big fire. The wolf falls into the saucepan and they lock him in and turn him into a nice wolf soup. They invite all the animals from the forest and they have a feast because the big evil Herman the wolf is finally gone.
