

Introduction, Body, or Conclusion?

Read the list of expressions, and decide whether they are part of the introduction, body, or conclusion of a presentation.

In front of each expression, type I, B, or C.

- _____ Do you have any questions or comments?
- _____ Good morning everyone!
- _____ Here is another example:
- _____ In conclusion, I told you about the city of Toronto...
- _____ Let's look at the climate of this territory.
- _____ Let's review the main points of my presentation.
- _____ My presentation is going to focus on the city of Whitehorse.
- _____ Now I am going to move on to ...
- _____ Now that I have described the summers, let's talk about the winters.
- _____ Okay, that ends my presentation about Kitchener.
- _____ One example of an important industry in New Brunswick is...
- _____ Thank you for listening to my presentation.
- _____ That's all I have to say about the population. Let's move on to the landscape.
- _____ The subject of my talk is Iqaluit, Nunavut.
- _____ This presentation will focus on three aspects of Winnipeg: the climate, the economy, and the population.
- _____ Today I am going to talk about the province of Quebec.
- _____ Welcome to my presentation.