2. Use the right tense forms of the verbs to fill the gaps in text:

The London Dungeon (1-lie) in the oldest part of London - in an old subterranean prison (that's what the word Dungeon (2-stand) for). The museum (3-take) its visitors on a journey through England's bloody history. It demonstrates the brutal killings and tortures of the past. You can experience, for example, how people (4-die) on the Gallow or during the Plague of 1665. The Dungeon (5-show) also scenes of Jack the Ripper or the beheading of Anne Boleyn, who (6-be) one of Henry VIII's six wives. The atmosphere at the Dungeon is really scary - nothing for the faint-hearted. While you (7-walk) around the Dungeon, watch out for creepy creatures - the Dungeon (8-employ) actors to give its visitors the fright of their lives. The actors, (9-dress) as monsters, ghosts or executors, hide in the dark corners of the Dungeon and then suddenly jump out and grab one of the visitors. And the horror (10-not, end) at the exit of the exhibition. You (11-eat) ever a pizza with fingers and eyeballs on it? Well, if you (12-fancy) that kind of food, you'll love the meals at the Dungeon restaurant. The museum wants to provoke, shock, educate and delight. And it (13-do) extremely this well. Since its opening in 1975, the Dungeon (14-attract) many visitors from all over the world. Besides the regular opening hours, the Dungeon (15-work) sometimes at night. If you have enough money and nerves of steel, you can book the Dungeon for parties, conferences or charity events at night. And on 31 October, a frightfully good Halloween Party (16-take) place at the Dungeon every year.
