

Exclamatory sentences show strong feelings and end with an exclamation mark.
Command sentences tell a person or animal to do something and end with a period.

Write a . or ! at the end of each sentence and write command or exclamatory.

1. Shut the door _____
2. What an interesting movie _____
3. Silence your cell phone _____
4. Jelly doughnuts are my favourite _____
5. The kitten is so cute _____

Combine the sentences by using a coordinating conjunction and the correct punctuation.

Example: I like red flowers. I like white flowers.

I like red and white flowers.

I like apples. Bob likes mangoes.

I like apples, but Bob likes mangoes.

1. Leon likes broccoli. Leon also likes carrots.

2. Dad boiled the potatoes. I mashed them.

3. It is raining. Let's walk fast.

4. Alan chased his cat. The cat escaped.

A simple sentence has one complete sentence that can stand alone.
A compound sentence has two complete sentences that can stand alone. A complex sentence has one complete sentence that can stand alone and one fragment.

Write simple, compound, or complex for each sentence.

1. Lily can touch the roof, for she is tall. _____
2. Mom usually takes a nap after lunch. _____
3. The boy ran around the track, and he jumped over the hurdles. _____
4. As soon as Jerry woke up, he checked the Christmas stockings. _____