

YOUTUBE: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=z9j7g1dfxIo>, 2m 39s, Thought Monkey, 2016; animated

GIST: One of your fellow classmates really wants to talk about religion, but it can be a touchy subject, so let's see if we can understand some very basic things about the topic, first. READ these terms, WRITE them down on a separate piece of paper, LISTEN to the video ONCE, MAKE a mark next to the terms EACH time you hear them, then afterward CLICK on the pulldown menus, and CHOOSE the right answers. WATCH OUT! Other classmates want to talk about food, instead, so they have inserted at least one thing not in the video.
MAXIMUM TIME: 7 minutes

Aristotle 5 Favism 387 B.C.

(video box below—to start or stop the video click in the video window; no other controls)

YOUTUBE: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=z9j7g1dfxIo>, 2m 39s, Thought Monkey, 2016; animated

DETAILED: Well, we know a little more than we did before, but not much, so to be able to talk about the similarities and differences between religion and philosophy, let's dig a bit more deeply. READ the questions twice, then - WITHOUT looking at the questions - LISTEN, again, TWICE. After that, TICK the correct TRUE (T) | FALSE (F) answers

BASED ON THE INFO IN THE VIDEO, WITHOUT listening, again. HEY, if you need to listen, again, to answer the questions, that's OK, just remember which questions they were, so you can talk about them with your teacher. BE CAREFUL! Those same classmates were in a hurry to go eat, so they typed at least one TRICKY question.

MAXIMUM TIME: 25 minutes

1. Philosophy looks to an earthly authority. T | F
2. The video's main point is defining "philosophy" and "religion." T | F
3. Medieval Christian writers didn't examine the works of Aristotle. T | F
4. The students cited in the video are teens. T | F
5. Religion looks to a heavenly authority. T | F
6. Medieval Islamic writers didn't examine the works of Socrates. T | F
7. The word religion comes from the ancient Roman word for legionary. T | F
8. The narrator says that he is a history teacher. T | F

IMAGES: All images are Clipart from the Microsoft Word used for this document.