As she rang the doorbell, Susan felt a mixture of fear and excitement. She (A1) ... for this moment for a long time yet she doubted if it was the right decision to go there and to ring the doorbell. She (A2) ... no one would come to open the door. Susan was only four when she (A3) ... her father for the last time. Her mother (A4) ... about him and about the reason why he had left them. Susan had seen a few pictures of her father but she had never known what to feel towards him. Susan didn't know what to expect from this meeting. She (A5) ... her father for more than twenty years. She (A6) ... she should leave when the door opened. Susan couldn't say anything but there was no need. A few seconds later they (A7) ... in each other's arms and they stayed there for several long minutes.

I think the computer is such (A8) ... useful invention. Take e-mail, for example. It is a very easy way to write letters. When I was younger, I rarely ever put pen to (A9) ... paper, not even to say 'thank you' for presents sent by my relatives. Now, though, you can't keep me away (A10) ... the keyboard. I can spend hours typing away (A11) ... my computer, all types of messages to all types of people. One of (A12) ... worst disadvantages for me of writing (A13) ... hand was always the embarrassment of knowing that people would criticise my untidy handwriting and careless spelling. Now thanks (A14) ... the spell-check, I can easily edit my letters. Teenagers nowadays take all this (A15) ... granted, they don't realise how fortunate they are.

§1. My trip around Italy gave me the chance to try some of its regional cuisine. It was such a whirlwind that it is sometimes hard to separate one place from another in my mind. My time in Bologna, however, is perfectly imprinted in my memory. There, I had a lunch date to eat the most famous of Italian exports — spaghetti Bolognese!

§2. My friend Marco had invited me to Bologna. He always said one day I should visit his home city and eat the well-known Bolognese dish, but, he added, “as you’ve never tasted it before.” I had no idea what he meant, but about one thing I was sure; I had read in my guidebook that the Bolognese sauce, which includes beef, onions, carrot, celery, tomato paste, meat, milk, salt and pepper, dates back to the 5th century!

§3. After my train pulled into Bologna station, I wandered towards the famous Piazza Maggiore, the very heart of the city. Passing by a shoe shop window display, a pair of elegant shoes caught my eye immediately. “I must try those on,” I thought. Upon entering the shop, an assistant stepped forward to greet me. I began my request in faltering Italian, but the assistant smiled and quickly replied, “I speak English, how can I help you?” “Thank you,” I said, “I’d like to try on a pair of shoes in the window.” The shop assistant said, “Well, of course, you can try them on in the window, but everyone in the street will be able to see you!” I realised she had taken my words very literally! I smiled, “Sorry, I meant the shoes I’d like to try on are in the window display, but I’ll try them on here,” I said, sitting myself down on a chair, “in size 6, please.” “Size 6? We have sizes 34 to 42.” Suddenly, I remembered that sizing on the continent is different to that in the UK. “I’m sorry, that would be size 39, please.” I was happy to find that the shoes fitted perfectly.

§4. After shopping it was time to head for food! I found myself back at the piazza to find Marco had already arrived. We made our way to his grandmother’s home for lunch. She was waiting to greet us at the door. I could smell the aroma of home cooking. “I can’t wait for the spaghetti Bolognese,” I exclaimed.

§5. Grandma looked confused. “Spaghetti? In Bologna, we never serve spaghetti with Bolognese sauce. We use thick pasta like fettuccine or tagliatelle.” Smiling, Marco said, “I told you you’d be surprised. Bolognese sauce might be eaten with spaghetti all over the world, but never in Bologna!” I must say, Grandma’s Bolognese was perfect. It had been a lovely day with smart new shoes, great company and delicious food. I could hardly complain!

A 36. The writer says that Bolognese

- 1) is made in a particular way in Bologna.
- 2) is a very traditional dish.
- 3) doesn’t always include the same ingredients.

A37. In the shoe shop, the assistant

- 1) misunderstood the writer’s request.
- 2) had difficulty in speaking English.
- 3) didn’t understand the writer’s Italian.

A38. What problem did the writer have regarding her shoe size?

- 1) Her feet are larger than the average Italian’s.
- 2) The shop had run out of her size.
- 3) She didn’t understand the size system.

A39. When the writer and Marco arrived for lunch, Marco’s grandmother

- 1) was surprised to see them.
- 2) was just arriving home.
- 3) had already prepared the food.

A40. What was the writer surprised about at Marco’s grandmother’s?

- 1) that they didn’t eat any pasta
- 2) how Bolognese is eaten in Bologna
- 3) how the Bolognese tasted

1. Spellometric Language Schools

The Spellometric Organisation has been running courses in Britain for the last 25 years and now has five schools in the south and south-west of England. The schools use a well-practised and proven teaching technique which recognises that spelling and numerical skills are the basis of all languages and so should form a central part of all lessons. The schools cater mainly for students aged twelve to eighteen years. Lessons take place in the mornings, starting at 8:00 am and finishing at 1:00 pm. The school arranges accommodation for students with local families.

2. Gattegno School of English

Situated in Central London, the internationally renowned Gattegno school opened in 1967 and uses Gattegno's "silent way" methodology to teach students. Teaching throughout the year, the school also organises summer courses with students attending from all over the world. Students must be over the age of eighteen and the maximum class size in this school is six.

3. Lancing English Association

The Lancing English Association runs two summer schools, one in Bath, and one in Bristol, mostly attended by young students from Germany, Austria and Switzerland. Teachers use the audio-lingual method. The maximum class size is ten. The school day starts at 9:00 am and finishes at 1:00 pm. In the afternoons and evenings students take part in a varied activity programme which includes cricket, football and horse-riding. Students can also enjoy the schools' indoor swimming pools. School trips to London and other tourist destinations take place at weekends. Courses last from two to eight weeks and are residential, with students staying in accommodation on the school site.

4. Pangloss School of English

The Pangloss School specialises in intensive English courses for students who wish to improve their English rapidly in the space of a few weeks. The school day lasts from 10:00 am to 8:00 pm, with intensive instruction in all aspects of the English language, from grammar structures to vocabulary. The course is particularly appropriate for students about to study at English Universities or business people looking for more specialised language skills. The maximum class size is five students. The school is situated in the Cambridgeshire countryside, just outside Cambridge itself.
