

Aircraft boneyard

1 - Listen and fill in the blanks with the words you hear

There maybe no place in _____ with stranger stories than this. Crunch, rib, smash. Welcome to _____ - New Mexico where aircraft come to die. Anyone frustrated by the current state of air travel, might wanna try their hand at this. Tearing apart an _____ airplane.

This _____ has been outfitted with a special giant claw that can demolish a once might MD-80 jet in _____. This might just be one of the most _____ jobs in aviation, but it takes a lot of skill. You try plucking out the plane's bathroom as neatly as this. When this aircraft is _____ demolished, works will salvage spare parts for resale. Next up. This

Burt aircraft demolition isn't the only _____ sight here at the Roswell airport. Across the tarmac is _____ Lockheed Jet-star that once belongs to the king of Rock and Roll Elvis Presley _____. It was first sold by Elvis' dad, and then sold again to a man from Poland but still gather its dust here in Roswell. And then ... there is the strangest flying object of them all. So strange no one has actually ever _____. Almost _____ years ago an unidentified flying object reportedly landed _____ outside Roswell. Before _____ knew what it was, the US government _____ in this hangar at the Roswell airport.

Rumors that it was an alien spaceship spread like _____. Sealing Roswell's extraterrestrial _____.

2 - Listen again if necessary and choose the best answer to complete the questions.

A – What happens at Roswell airport?

- ☐ Aircrafts come to be painted. ☐ Aircrafts come to be repaired.
- ☐ Aircrafts come to die. ☐ Aircrafts come to fly.

B – What happens after the aircraft is demolished?

- ☐ Workers will sell the spare parts. ☐ They will burn it all.
- ☐ They will build another airplane. ☐ They will not sell any parts.

C – What is so strange about Roswell airport?

- ☐ Aircrafts are demolished. ☐ Aircrafts sometimes disappear.
- ☐ Rumors of a strange flying object that landed there. ☐ A strange flying object was demolished there.

D – What famous person had one aircraft at Roswell?

- ☐ John Travolta. ☐ Elvis Presley.
- ☐ Elvis' dad. ☐ A man from Poland.

E – What did the US government do about it?

- ☐ The US government put the news in a newspaper.
- ☐ The US government locked it away in a hangar.
- ☐ The US didn't know about it.
- ☐ The US government demolished it.