[        ] : You've all been given a few minutes to think on your topic for today's group discussion, which is 'Our opinion regarding the online lectures.' You may now begin the discussion. Who would like to start?

Ravi: Online lectures have been a [        ] for us in this **[        ]

Kiran: Yes, indeed! But don't you think that it has created a **[        ] ?

Ravi: [        ] with you Kiran, some students may not have access to a ▭ but most of the children have access to a net connection; though ▭ .

Khushi: Besides, the travel costs are cut down, there is flexibility of time and online learning lends access to endless online materials.

Murli: ▭ but the technical issues, poor network connectivity, distractions and lack of in-person interaction most often lead to limited feedback /personalized teaching ▭ to students' absenteeism. ▭ , successful online students are ▭ , highly organized and focused on their goals.

▭ : Please conclude.

Ravi: Taking all these points into consideration, ▭ by saying that online lectures promote learner's autonomy and educators should plan collaborative lessons and activities based on individual learning pace.
