- 4 Read the article about Paul Stevens. Are the sentences correct or incorrect? If the information is not given, choose Doesn't say. Circle the correct answer.

When he was 26, Paul Stevens was living a normal life. He'd left university at the age of 21 and had become an accountant. He'd lived in London for five years, and at the age of 24 he'd bought a new car.

But then one day he saw an advertisement which changed his life. A billionaire was looking for people to sail his yacht. Paul had learnt to sail when he was a boy, so he applied for the job and got it. At the age of 26, he left his job as an accountant and moved away from London.

Now 30 years old, Paul still lives and works on the yacht. He has sailed all around the world. Last year, he went to Australia and last week he was in the Caribbean.
