What was not a reason for banning plastic bags in Kenya?

Discarded bags became habitats for mosquitos who carry malaria.

Plastic bags were everywhere, becoming an environmental menace.

The Organization of African Unity decided to disallow plastic bags.

Have plastic bags completely disappeared?

Yes, there are no plastic bags on the market.

No, there still is a black market for them.

No, but the only ones left are from the time before the ban.

Have people gotten used to the ban and the reusable bags now?

Yes, they only use reusable bags now.

Yes, but some only use the reusable ones one time, because they forget to bring them.

Yes, they enjoy making their own bags now.

What other products could be banned to help the environment?

Plastic items like straws, disposable cups and plates.

Multi-use plastic bags that are still found on the street.

All indecomposable plastic products that are in circulation.