Dear Amy,

The holidays are really close! I can't believe that in a month I'll be flying to meet you. I'm very happy that we'll spend so much time together – talking face to face is better than via the Internet. I also can't wait to see Edinburgh. People say that it is simply beautiful at this time of the year.

You asked how things are in my life. Actually, there's a serious situation, which I can't stop thinking about. My dog Smarties is very ill and the vet says that it may take a long time for her to get better. I'm trying to spend all my free time with her. You know, she's 14 just like me, and it's really hard to see her when she's feeling so bad.

Talk to you soon,

Mel

The author of the text

5.1. is in a changing room.

5.2. is asking for advice.

5.3. is in a new situation.

A.

Hi,
Do you remember us talking about the karate club I wanted to join? I went there last week and watched a practice session. I think I liked it but I must say that there were a few moments that scared me a little. First of all, it's all very loud. There's a lot of screaming and yelling. Secondly, if I want to start, I'll have to buy some special clothes and pay a lot to join the club. However, I think I'd like to try. Do you think it's a good idea?
Jack

B.

😊 : I can't talk to you right now because I'm putting on my uniform to join my teammates. We're playing a very important game in half an hour. I'm really excited because it'll decide who wins the championship. I think we will win. I must go because the coach is giving us some final advice. Bye.

C.

Dear Mum and Dad,

I'm finally at the camp. It's exactly the same as it was last year. Nothing's changed, but it's really nice to find some of the same people working here. The next two weeks will be full of hard work because I'm getting ready for the new season, but I'm really looking forward to it.

*Lots of love,
Eli*

Eddie,
I'm really happy that you recommended that I take part in the football camp. It's the first time I've ever done anything like this, but it's so cool! I have already made 10 new friends here, and all we do is play my favourite game – FOOTBALL! My team is called The Brave Lions, and we won two games yesterday. I'm going to play another game in a moment, so I need to finish this email, put on my kit and get to the pitch to start the game.
Bye for now,
Chris

Zadanie 6.

Emma's blog

Magic kitchen
As I wrote last time, I'm a person with a lot of hobbies. Today, I'm going to tell you about a hobby that my whole family enjoys. I love baking cakes: apple pies, cupcakes, brownies. I love baking them most on a Saturday morning and watching when my mum and dad – and even my brother ;-) – come into the kitchen, where the smell of freshly baked cakes hits them. They'll sit down at the table, waiting for me to serve my latest creation. Last Saturday I made a tart, using strawberries from our own garden but I don't know what to make for them this weekend – any ideas?

Ikebana in my room
So, you know that I love baking cakes. I also like making my room more beautiful. Last month I read on the Internet about a two-day course on Ikebana. I went along with my friend, and it was simply amazing! Ikebana is the traditional Japanese art of arranging flowers so that they create a miniature work of art. This week I'm using only red and yellow flowers to make my room livelier.
