

Robinson Crusoe

Robinson Crusoe is quite the _____ young man. Looking for adventure on the high seas, he _____ his parents and sails away from his home in England. _____ the young Crusoe may be brave, but he isn't such a lucky sailor. Little does he know he is _____ on the adventure of a lifetime.

The first ship he joins is captured by pirates and Crusoe becomes their prisoner. Fortunately, he makes a brave escape and is _____ by a ship on its way to Brazil. He finds better luck on this _____. The ship lands in Brazil and, with the help of the ship's captain, Crusoe buys a sugar plantation there.

When Crusoe sails out again to bring back slaves for his new plantation, his bad luck at sea returns. A terrible storm _____ the ship. The passengers _____ into boats to escape to an island. Crusoe _____ his companions as they _____ in the rough ocean, until a giant wave _____ them. He looks around _____ but _____ he is all alone on the _____ ocean.

_____ and _____, he washes up on a tiny island. He _____ and thanks God for saving him. Exhausted, he _____ in a tree and _____.

Crusoe rescues valuable tools from the _____ and builds a home to protect himself from wild animals. _____, he learns to hunt, grow crops, _____ goats, and make _____. He even builds a summer home on the other side of the island.

The only thing he is missing is the company of others, so Crusoe _____ the Bible. He realizes he's done many bad things in his life, like _____ his parents.

He has spent 15 years alone on the island, when one day, he discovers a human footprint. Crusoe is _____. Where did this footprint come from? Is it from a friend or an enemy? Questions keep Crusoe awake at night until he finds human bones _____ on the seashore. He doesn't wonder if the footprint belongs to a friend anymore. The visitor to his island is a _____.

Sometime later, the _____ and their victims land on shore for another _____. Crusoe saves one of them and names him "Friday" for the day of the week Crusoe found him.

At long last, our lonely Crusoe isn't alone anymore. Crusoe teaches Friday to speak English and about the Bible. Together, they begin building a boat and planning how to _____ the island.

The cannibals return and Crusoe and Friday _____, rescuing two men. One is a Spaniard and the other, _____, is Friday's father. The Spaniard tells Crusoe of sixteen companions still _____. Crusoe gives up his boat so the Spaniard and Friday's father can rescue the men.

While waiting for their return, Crusoe and Friday see another ship and believe it is their chance to go home.

But there's been a _____ on board. The crew members force the captain on shore, planning to leave him on Crusoe's island.

Crusoe and Friday _____. They are _____ so they trick the crew. They shout from different places across the island, causing the sailors to become confused and _____. Crusoe and Friday defeat them one by one, regain control of the ship, and sail back to England.

Our tale has a happy ending for the now not-so-young Crusoe. He discovers that his plantation in Brazil was _____ while he was gone, _____ him a rich man. Back in England, Crusoe marries and has three children.

And as our story closes, Crusoe, now _____, sails back to his island home. Always _____ new adventures, he just can't _____ one last _____ look.