This is Harry, my Science teacher. He is young and a little fat with curly dark hair. He works at school in Scotland.

Every day he gets up at quarter to seven in the morning. He takes a shower and gets dressed. Then he has breakfast cereals with milk and an orange juice at half past seven. At eight o'clock he rides his motorcycle to school.

Harry starts work at nine o'clock. He switches on the computer and he waits for his students.

At quarter to twelve, he has a snack and then he teaches again until two o'clock. He goes home at quarter past two.

In the afternoon he feeds his goldfish and he watches TV. He prepares the class for the next day and then he has dinner at nine o'clock. He watches the news on TV and he goes to bed at quarter past ten.
