

Match

Match the sentence with its accent.

Scots

SSE

Gaelic

It emerged as the language of religion, education and government.

It's considered to be the founding language of Scotland.

A Germanic language with its own unique grammar, syntax, vocabulary and idiom.

It's rhotic, it has highly distinct vowel sounds, and it contains a fricative 'ch' sound.

It's much closer in style to that of English.