

1.                car is parked in front of my driveway?
2.                do you usually hang out with?
3.                is responsible for issuing the invoices?
4. Jack is the manager                team is having some sales training.
5. Laura,                position is key to the company, has decided to quit.
6. To                it may concern.
7. Sue is the one                has been appointed for the new CFO position.
8. She's the manager for                we should respond now.
9. The supplier                product we're short of is coming this afternoon.
10.                does she work with?
11. John                works in the procurement area has been promoted.
12. Unilever,                office is in Faria Lima, is a British company.
13. By any chance, do you happen to know                is in charge with the R&D area?
14. Erika now works with Ed with                I used to share the flat.
15. Would you please tell me                is Sarah talking to on the phone?
16. She's the manager                we should now respond to.
17. This is the copy machine                toner cartridge has run out of ink again!
18. For                The Bell Tolls is a great film!
19. It's not my business                she gets along with or not!
20.                should we call up for the sales meeting?