5 Circle the correct options.

It's clear that the restaurants of the future ¹*will be / are being* very different from the ones we go to now. In only about ten years' time, robots ²*will have brought / will be bringing* food to our tables. We won't have to wait because we ³*might order / will have ordered* our food already from an app at home. If we haven't already ordered, the menu ⁴*shows / will show* a hologram on the table of the food we can order. Some people say there ⁵*isn't going to be / won't have been* enough meat for everyone, so we ⁶*eat / will be eating* very different food from now, like insects and laboratory-grown meat. It might sound terrible, but did you know an insect-based restaurant ⁷*opens / is opening* next month in London? I think I ⁸*am trying / might try* it! The future is not far away!

5 Circle the correct options.

My older brother is going to leave home soon so my parents let him cook dinner last weekend, to see if he could do it alone. He started by ¹peeling / grating / spreading the potatoes well, but then he added a ²pinch / sprinkle / handful of salt! They tasted awful. Then he started to ³chop / grill / spread the meat, but he forgot about it and ⁴overcooked / roasted / fried it. He didn't ⁵spread / season / heat the oven before he put the cake in, so it didn't cook properly. In the end, we told him to open a ⁶slice / packet / splash of biscuits, as we were all so hungry! Next week he's starting cookery classes!
