

Listen and fill out the gaps

1. But selling their home would require them to make renovations they've avoided for the past decade.
2. The actual living room in a house is very important because that's where the of all the family time happens.
3. I gave the O'Briens the best advice I could give them, but honestly, I don't think they're going to take it.
4. I definitely don't want it to be, but is there a way to get something like this?
5. Sean and Melanie were advised to replace the carpeting and their living room before showing their home.
