

I'll never forget the first time I met my wife. I was at a party with friends. While everyone was laughing and talking, a beautiful and mysterious woman arrived.

When she walked into the room, everyone immediately stopped talking and looked at her. No one knew who she was. And I remember that she was wearing an amazing red dress.

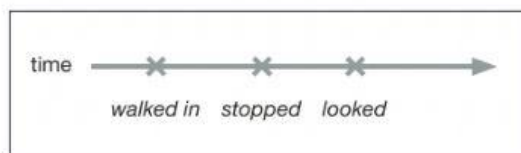

Presentation

Use the past simple and the past continuous to talk about situations and events in the past.

Past simple

Use the past simple for:

- A short completed action: She arrived at the party.
- A sequence of actions: She walked into the room. Everyone stopped talking and looked at her.

Past continuous

Use the past continuous for:

- An unfinished or continuing activity: Everyone was laughing and talking.
- A background situation: She was wearing an amazing red dress.

We often use the past continuous with the past simple to explain that two actions happened at the same time:

While everyone was laughing and talking, a beautiful woman arrived.

The past simple action may interrupt the longer past continuous action:

While everyone was laughing and talking, a beautiful woman arrived. Everyone immediately stopped talking.

when and while

We often use when and while in sentences with the past simple and the past continuous. They can go at the beginning or in the middle of the sentence:

When I arrived, everyone was laughing and talking.*

Everyone was laughing and talking when I arrived.

TIP You can use while or when with the past continuous, but we don't normally use while with the past simple.
