SMALL TALK

A simple guide to avoid awkward chit chat

KEEP THE CONVO GOING

It's time to continue chatting, look at these tips and choose the best option that would help you.

Ask about weather	Notice your surroundings
Keep things light and positive	Make a compliment
Don't ask questions, just listen	Find a common ground
Talk over the other person	Reveal something about you
Be genuine	Check your phone

BE A GOOD LISTENER

Match each question with a suitable answer.

What is it like where you come from?		Oh I'm not really into that, I enjoy more watersports. Are you tho?
Are you a football enthusiast?		Maybe try asking the new guy, I know he fixed them where he comes from. Anything else?
Isn't our new teammate hilarious?		I think it's mid, he has got better records imo. What do you think of it?

Can you suggest me someone to fix this bug?		I've heard that he is great at fixing computers, but I didn't have the chance to meet him. Have you?
What do you think of Drake's last album?		It's great, actually. We are all very welcoming people, you should visit anytime! What about you?

THIS OR THAT

To keep a conversation, the person talking to you must feel that you're INTERESTED and OPEN TO LISTENING. Choose the better gestures.

EYES

Look at them in the eyes

Don't make eye contact

HEAD

Keep your head straight

Tilt your head a little to the side

BODY LANGUAGE

Cross your arms and stand still

Move your arms and get near

YOUR FACE

Nod and smile

Poker face

COMMENTING

Dead silence

"Huh" "Right!" "Oh"
