The cost of smoking

Everybody knows smoking is bad for your health. There are health warnings on packets of cigarettes in a most countries in the world. However, if you don't smoke it can also save you b _____ of money. It's difficult to calculate what the costs really are because c _____ smokers admit how much they smoke, but we can guess.

There are d _____ people who smoke two packets of cigarettes a day. Not e _____ packets of cigarettes cost less than €2.50, so the cost of smoking two packets a day for one year is at least €1,825. Then the health costs of smoking are €660 for each smoker. Now we have a total of €2,485 per smoker.

Smoking also costs employers a f _____ money. According to g _____ estimates an employee who smokes costs a company an extra €1,000 a year. Apart from smokers taking more sick leave, h _____ the walls and furniture in the office are affected by tobacco smoke and need to be cleaned. If we add €1,000 to the previous total we reach the figure of €3,485 a year, or €290 a month. If the smoker continues smoking for fifty years, the final total would be €174,250, the price of a medium-sized flat in i _____ European cities!
