June 15,

Today while we were preparing for a party in Mystery Shack, Stan asked us to make copies _____ the flyers for the party. Mabel and I made an amazing discovery - a copier machine can copy humans too! I waited for this party and I made a plan how to dance with Wendy. Mabel for some reason said that I am the only person who can prevent myself _____ following that plan. My plan was perfect, but then Robbie came and took away Wendy's attention _____ me. In order to be in two places at the same time I used the copier machine and made a copy _____ myself. Okay, seven copies. I gave them task _____ managing the ticket stand and stealing Robbie's bike too. Everything went according to plan but I was still afraid _____ asking Wendy to dance. But when I managed to talk to Wendy like a normal person I realised I was tired _____ following my plan and, probably, my plan can prevent me _____ achieving my goal. My clones were angry at me and locked me. I ran away _____ them and managed to fight them all. After I saw Wendy dancing with Robbie I realised my plan was useless and went to drink a can _____ soda with Tyron. Unfortunately soda isn't so good for clones. At least Mabel is fond _____ the party, she found new friends. So party went well _____ my point of view. Signing off for tonight
