

DO GREEN PRODUCTS MAKE US BETTER PEOPLE?

Fill in the blanks with the correct form of the root word on the right.

A recent report in the journal Psychological Science was (1) _____ Do Green Products Make us Better People? After conducting a series of experiements, psychologists reached the conclusion that those who buy
 (2) _____ ethical products were just as likely to be cheats and
 (3) _____ as those who did not, in other words, there were no direct correlation between a social or ethical conscience about one aspect of life, and (4) _____ in another.

Despite being an occasional buyer of organic vegetables, I myself take great (5) _____ from the study because it fits in with a long-held hypothesis of my own. It is what I call the theory of finite niceness. We use the word "nice" to describe those people we encounter who seem (6) _____ and kind. Yet, it is not a word we use often to describe those to whom we are closest, because we know that there is a (7) _____ in their characters. We understand them and realize that they are people who (8) _____ have both faults and virtues, and that these do (9) _____ come out in different ways.

(1) TITLE

(2) SUPPOSE

(3) CRIME

(4) BEHAVE

(5) SATISFY

(6) CHARM

(7) COMPLEX

(8) DOUBT

(9) VARIABLE

