

Where did Harry's grandma take pictures of these people?

Boy: Hello, Grandma. Wow! You've got a lot of photos, haven't you? That's a _____ one!

Woman: Yes! I took this at a party many years _____.

Boy: Who is it?

Woman: Grandpa! He's _____ very badly. It was when we were at university.

Boy: Look at his hair!

Woman: Yes. It was very long then.

Boy: I like this one very much. What a great _____!

Woman: Yes. This is your cousin Sophia's volleyball team. I took this one at the _____.

Boy: Why were you there?

Woman: Oh we went there for _____ after a game. Her team's really good. They win most of their matches.

Boy: This one looks _____.

Woman: Yes, that's one of Grandpa's friends. His name's William.

Boy: I haven't met him.

Woman: Oh, OK. Well, all of us often drive to the _____ so we can go for long walks across the fields there. But I took this at the old _____ near here.

Boy: And where did you take this one?

Woman: Perhaps at the _____.

Boy: Are you sure?

Woman: No, actually ... I know. It's my _____ Jane at the office where she began her new job last year.

Boy: She looks tired!

Woman: Well, she doesn't _____ it. She's looking for another job now. She wants to be a _____!

Boy: This is my _____. Is this Uncle Oliver?

Woman: That's right. On holiday, last summer. He's got the _____ which he uses when he goes _____ in the mountains. I bought that for him!

Woman: Yes, but he was in the _____ here. Look.

Boy: Did you take this picture, too?

Woman: Yes, I did. You can see Aunt Lucy in it.

Boy: But she looks so _____!

Woman: Well she was only _____ then. She slept in a tent while she worked on that farm in the _____ holidays.

Boy: _____! I'd like to do that one day!
