City Scenes Escenas Ciudadanas

Lee atentamente este artículo acerca de las características de cuatro ciudades del mundo. Completa luego el ejercicio de lecto-comprensión.

In many countries around the world, more and more people live in cities which share many characteristics, but are also different from country to country.

Mexico

Mexico's cities are modern but have traditional Indian and Spanish influences. The most important buildings are around a central square, which also serves as a place to meet with friends. There are outdoor marketplaces, where people can find almost anything they need. On Sundays, parks are a popular place for family outings. Many people move to Mexico City from rural areas. It has a lot of excitement, but also lots of traffic and air pollution.

Japan

Japan's cities also have a mix of traditional and modern characteristics. There are tall office and apartment buildings as well as traditional wooden houses. Many people prefer to live near the center of cities, but because houses there are expensive, they often commute from suburbs. Traffic, pollution, and crowds are typical problems. However, there is little crime, and even very crowded cities have many parks and gardens.

Australia

Although 80% of Australians live near cities, the cities are not as large as those in some other countries. Most people live in houses in suburbs - not in apartments. The suburbs usually have their own churches, schools, and shopping centers. They also have good recreational facilities. In large cities, like Sydney, the suburbs are often far from the center of town. Because many people commute to work, traffic is slow and there are many traffic jams.

China

Chinese people live in a variety of homes, from modern buildings in cities to bamboo farmhouses in the towns. Feng-shui - the study of the harmonies and alignment of buildings to ensure harmonious living - is an important consideration in their architecture. Hong Kong has an excellent transportation system which includes the subway, a tram system, safe and comfortable ferries, and even the rickshaw, a two-wheeled vehicle pulled by one person.
