These days, _____can do many difficult tasks. Some people think that they will take over the world. This might happen, but I don't believe it.

On the one hand, I agree that _____is very powerful. For example, there are _____that can give answers to our questions using a real voice. This is amazing.

However, _____can only do specific jobs. They might learn to do many things in the future, but I don't agree that they will think like_____. That only happens in science fiction_____.

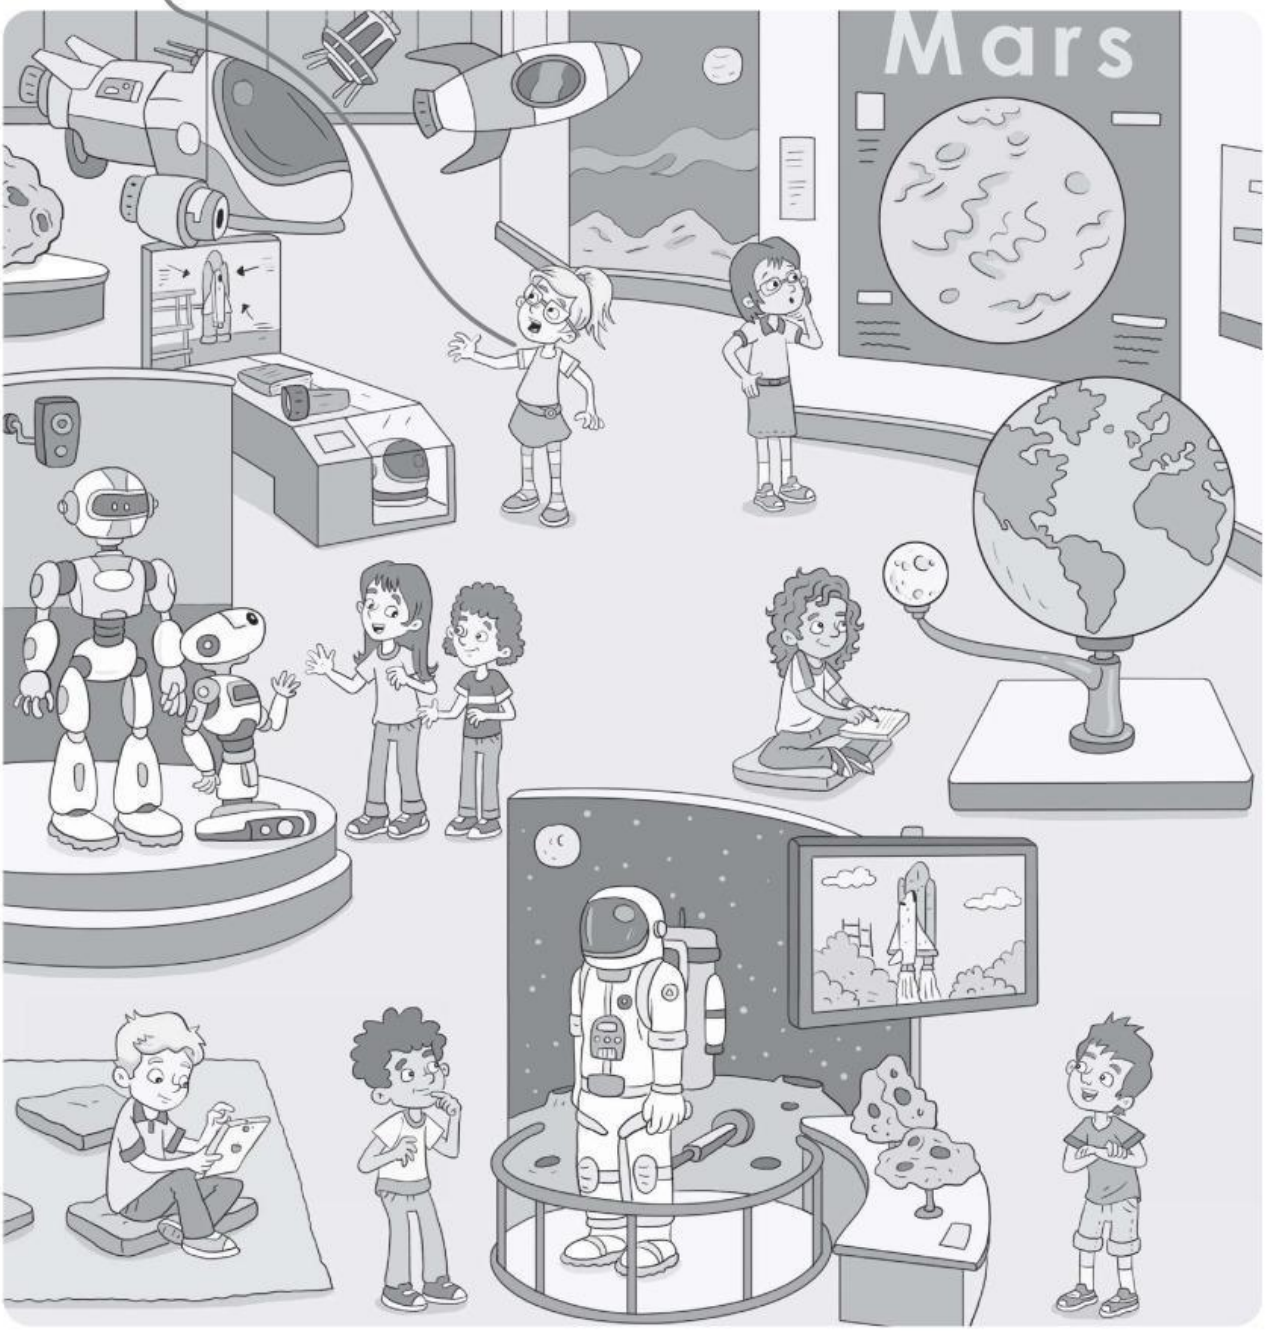

In summary, humans will continue to control robots.
I think that we will only let them do things that help us, and I believe this is something positive for the future.
