

Put the pictures in order. How do farmers take the milk at the dairy farm?

1) Cows graze in the fields of a dairy farm.

2) The farmer takes the female cows (those that have calves) into the barn. In the barn, the farmer washes the cows' udder.

3) Then the farmer puts a milking machine with tubes on the cows' udder to take the milk.

4) After that, a special truck called a tank truck goes to the farm to collect the milk and takes it to a factory.

5) Finally, you can buy milk and dairy products such as butter, ice cream, chocolate and yoghurt at the supermarket.
