

Indicate active or passive voice.

1. The manager assumes responsibility for environmentally friendly decisions.
2. Farm management decisions are made in terms with these methods: the traditional, the technical, and the economic method.
3. In the traditional method, a decision is influenced by the traditions of the farm owners, the region, or the community.
4. Within the technical method, decisions require the use of technical knowledge.
5. In the economic method, all the problems are observed in relation to expected costs and returns.