

Choose the correct past tense. Use the past simple when it's possible.

AN EMBARRASSING EXPERIENCE!

I had an audition for a part in a new film. I was really excited because I <sup>1</sup>  in a film before. I <sup>2</sup>  the director either. I really <sup>3</sup>  the part, so I <sup>4</sup>  it for days. As my appointment was early, I <sup>5</sup>  to take the car because it was quicker. But I <sup>6</sup>  enough time, so I arrived late. The car park was full, but suddenly I spotted a parking space. But just then, another car zoomed in and <sup>7</sup>  my space! I was really angry, so I shouted at the driver. She got out of the car, just looked at me and walked away. When I finally found another parking space, I <sup>8</sup>  my car and ran. I <sup>9</sup>  the other actors in the waiting area. Most of the actors <sup>10</sup>  the audition already. When my name was called, I walked in and I <sup>11</sup>  the director. She was the woman who <sup>12</sup>  my parking space. I didn't get the part!