Film Goers - Films

A - The Take-away Man

This is supposed to be a comedy but someone forgot to bring the laughs. Some good acting but the story line is very predictable. A bit too long at over two hours.

B - No Escape

Police films don't come any better than this. A detective gone bad is hunted by the force, and you never know what is around the corner. No big stars, but a lot of big performances, and a great story line.

C - One step too far

This film is based on a true story about the lessons you can learn from an expedition to the South pole, and has some spectacular photography. Try not to miss it if you can.

D - Fire In The Sky

When an island volcano erupts, it is a thrilling race against time to save the villagers, and the sharks are coming to dinner. You won't fall asleep with this action packed adventure.

E - School

School life in America from the inside. Life as it is for young kids in a New York school, with dysfuntional teachers and parents. There is some romance to save it.

F - Love In The Distance

Love overcomes all in this romantic film as a young boy and girl from very different backgrounds manage to say their vows, eventually! You will need a big box of tissues for this one.

G - The Shearing

A riotous tale of a sheep against a butcher, with the help of the local village. You will laugh till you cry. Good acting and a great script.

H - Get Micky

The big stars come out to pick up their pay checks but forget to bring their acting skills. This film is just a farce to get you into the cinema. The plot is weak and the acting non-existant. Very disappointing.

Different Colours can affect us in many different ways; that's according to Verity Allen. In her new series 'Colour me Healthy', Verity looks at the ways that colours can influence how hard we work and the choices we make. They can even change our emotions and even influence how healthy we are.

'Have you ever noticed how people always use the same colours for the same things?' says Verity. 'Our toothpaste is always white or blue or maybe red. It's never green. Why not? For some reason we think that blue and white is clean, while we think of green products as being a bit disgusting. It's the same for businesses. We respect a company which writes its name in blue or black, but we don't respect one that uses pink or orange. People who design new products can use these ideas to influence what we buy.'

During this four-part series, Verity studies eight different colours, two colours in each programme. She meets people who work in all aspects of the colour industry, from people who design food packets, to people who name the colours of lipsticks. Some of the people she meets clearly have very little scientific knowledge to support their ideas, such as the American 'Colour Doctor' who believes that serious diseases can be cured by the use of coloured lights. However, she also interviews real scientists who are studying the effects of green and red lights on mice, with some surprising results.

Overall, it's an interesting show, and anyone who watches it will probably find out something new. But because Verity is goes out of her way to be polite to everyone she meets on the series, it's up to the viewers to make their own decisions about how much they should believe
