

Vane: Hey Sammy! What are you _____ ?

Sammy: Hi Vane! I'm _____ what I'm going to bring for our day of the dead altar. What are you doing?

Vane: me too! I'm _____ my _____ right now to add on the altar. What are you adding?

Sammy: I'm _____ ! People always put them on their altars, they represent the fragility of life.

Vane: Are you _____ any _____ for the altar? People always add candles to guide the spirits of their loved ones.

Sammy: Yes, I am! I'm also _____ some traditional papel picado to decorate it.

Vane: That's a great idea! Are we _____ any food?

Sammy: Yes! I'm bringing _____ and some _____ !

Vane: sugar skulls?

Sammy: yes! Everyone always adds them to the altar, they symbolize death and rebirth.

Vane: I didn't know that. That sounds amazing! I'm cooking some dishes as an offering too!

Sammy: Thank you! Are we _____ our faces and _____ dressed too?

Vane: only if you want! I'm also _____ of going to the _____ .

Sammy: Yes! Let's do both!

Vane: ok, our _____ is going to be the best one in the neighborhood.

Vane: Yes, it is! Our loved ones are going to love it.