Devon Kei Enzo

Devon is a seventh grader and loves mathematics very much. He often joins math contests and has won hundreds of medals in Mathematical Olympiads. According to him, mathematics is fun because it is challenging and exciting.

Devon learns math through quizzes and brain games with his parents at home. They also play Monopoly, Scrabble and Cluedo.

"Our family loves math so much. So apart from participating in the Olympics, I really enjoy doing activities related to math. For example, sometimes on weekends, we work together on brain games, math quizzes on YouTube, and other fun activities related to math," said Devon.

"My brother and I often hone our fast counting skills together, compete quickly with our parents. I guess our family really loves math in so many ways," he added.

Here is Devon typical days. He wakes up and spends some time to prepare fo school. He goes to school and studies there from 7.30 to 15.30. After school he doe his homework, individual or group projects. He usually goes to bed at 20.30, but whe he has to prepare himself for a math contest he often goes to bed at 01.00.
