Tutankhamun

The kings of Ancient Egypt were called Pharaohs. The most famous Pharaoh was Tutankhamun, who lived more than three thousand years ago. He was very young when he died and he only ruled Egypt for a few years. His body was buried in a tomb near Luxor. All the kings and queens of Egypt were buried on the west bank of the Nile, because then they would face the rising sun. The Ancient Egyptians thought that the sun was a god. Tutankhamun's tomb was filled with beautiful jewels. There were also tables, chairs and beds, which were all made of gold.

All of the Pharaohs were buried in tombs like Tutankhamun's. Most of these tombs were found by thieves and all the treasures were stolen. But thieves did not find Tutankhamun's tomb. Archaeologists were also looking for the tomb, but it was not discovered until 1922. Then a British archaeologist called Howard Carter discovered it. Nothing in the tomb was touched. When the tomb was opened, Carter couldn't believe his eyes. "Can you see anything?" a friend asked him. "Yes," said Carter. "Wonderful things!" Now all these wonderful things can be seen in the Cairo Museum.
