Complete using superlatives: Read the following text and find six mistakes. The first one is already done for you.

Which is ~~more~~ big, New York or London? New York has a ~~biggest~~ population, but both cities have a ~~largest~~ cultural influence. They are two of the ~~importantest~~ financial centers in the world. That could change in the future, though. Right now, seven of the ten large cities in the world are in southern or southeastern Asia. Two countries, China and India, have a great population than the next 20 countries combined! Biggest city of them all, though, is Tokyo, Japan, with almost 37 million people! For some people, so much business and entertainment can be excitingest, but others couldn't imagine anything worst!
